CALL for PAPERS
Second Edition of the National Conference
On

“Civic Education and EFL in Higher Education: Prospects and Challenges”

13/14 November, 2018

Event Chair: Dr. Maouche Salima

To pay homage to our esteemed Pr. Saadi Hacene

This academic event is the second version of the First national Conference on “teaching and learning civic education through EFL in higher education: case studies”, held in Bejaia, on 13/14 November 2016, organized by the Department of English Language and Literature (Bejaia University, Algeria).

This second version will principally concentrate on, but are not limited to, the following tracks:

1. Integrating civic education in schools curricula: challenges and constraints;
2. The impact of civic education strategies on future citizens;
3. Teacher professional development within civic education programs;
4. Ethical values and civic education in EFL teaching and learning;
5. Civic education in the Algerian higher institutions' contexts: prospects and promises.

Brochure

Civic education promotes an understanding of the ideals of a democratic society and a reasoned commitment to the values and principles of that society. Education has always devoted an interest in the ways of prepare future citizens and the ways of making them integrate such civil society. The interest becomes, today, a growing concern of foreign language educational contexts. In other words, learners; teachers and institutions need to achieve the level of understanding and acceptance of the rights and responsibilities required for a healthy community. This conference aims at identifying, reflecting on and exchanging experiences about civic education in EFL teaching and learning. The focus will be on feedback, debate and discussion.

Consequently, participants are invited to send a 200-word abstract and prepare for a 10-minute oral presentation.
